

States—have been alive. That doesn't even count one Senator who was born just days after his first election to represent West Virginia's Sixth Congressional District, and a second who was born just weeks after that.

A dozen men have called the Oval Office his own while Senator BYRD has called the Capitol building his office.

He twice won every single one of West Virginia's 55 counties. And throughout one of the longest political careers in history, no one ever has defeated ROBERT BYRD in a single election.

But though each one of those campaigns—after each of the 12 times he has taken an oath to represent the people of West Virginia—on every single one of the 20,774 days he has served—he has never taken the privilege for granted.

As a former leader of both the majority and the minority caucuses in the Senate, he knows better than most that legislation is the art of compromise. It is telling that the man who has served here longer than any other American has come to the conclusion that we must work together as partners, not partisans, for the good of our country—and, of course, the State of West Virginia.

He has seen partisanship and bipartisanship; war and peace; recession and recovery; and his perspective is invaluable to the way we carry ourselves as U.S. Senators.

Senator BYRD's legislative accomplishments are many, and he continues to accumulate them. And while those accomplishments fortify his incomparable legacy, he is perhaps best known in this Chamber as the foremost guardian of the Senate's complex rules, procedures and customs.

He has not concerned himself with such precision as a pastime or a mere hobby. He has done so because of the unyielding respect he has for the Senate. And on this momentous occasion, I say to my friend that the Senate returns that unyielding respect to him.

By virtue of his longevity, ROBERT BYRD has known and worked with many of the greats of the United States Senate. By virtue of his integrity, he has long since established himself among the greats.

There will never be another Senator like Senator BYRD, and today's milestone is another record that will never be broken.

Congratulations, ROBERT C. BYRD, an orphan who changed history.

RECOGNITION OF THE MINORITY LEADER.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Republican leader is recognized.

CONGRATULATING SENATOR ROBERT BYRD

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, it has been nearly 30 years now since Senator BYRD started delivering a series of lectures that ultimately became the book that all of us are familiar with and which all of us admire. And the story of how those lectures came about says a lot about the man who has now served in Congress longer than any other man or woman in the history of our country.

The story goes that it was a quiet Friday morning here in the Senate and Senator BYRD, as the majority leader, went down to the floor without planning to say much of anything at all, except that there wouldn't be any votes that day. But then he looked up to the gallery, and he saw one of his granddaughters up there with some of her classmates, and he thought it might be a good idea if they had something to talk about when they got back to school.

So, quite extemporaneously and quite by happenstance, he delivered a speech to an empty Chamber on the history of the Senate. A week went by, and the same thing happened again. Senator BYRD came to the floor to make some brief statement about the floor business. He looked up to the gallery, and he saw another one of his granddaughters. Of course he couldn't give a history lesson to one and not to another. So he gave another history lesson.

Well, 7 years and about 2 million words later, he stopped giving those history lessons. And now we will always have them. And we are grateful for that, and for this man. ROBERT BYRD once said that what is sometimes considered to be the result of genius is more the result of persistence, perseverance, and hard work. To be a good Senator, he said, one has to work at it. And now, longer than anyone else in our history, he has lived by those words.

Today, ROBERT CARLYLE BYRD sets a record that has been more than 56 years in the making. The records just keep adding up. Three years ago, he became the longest serving Senator in our Nation's history. A few months after that, he became the only person ever elected to nine full terms in the Senate. He has now served in the U.S. Congress for 20,774 days.

He has cast 18,500 votes in the well of this Chamber. He is the longest serving member of the Senate Appropriations Committee. He has presided over the Senate's shortest session and its longest continuous session. He is the only sitting Member of Congress to receive a law degree, a degree that was presented to him by President John F. Kennedy, just one of 12 Presidents that Senator BYRD has served alongside during his distinguished career.

Senator BYRD will tell you that he has been anchored over the years by the values he learned at the feet of his foster parents, by the support and love of his beloved Erma, whom we were all sad to lose, by the U.S. Constitution, and by his faith in God. In a long life, he has known his share of hardships and triumphs. But he has run the race as if to win. He is still at it and we are grateful for his astonishing record of service to the people of West Virginia, to the United States Senate, and to the Nation he loves.

In achieving this latest milestone, Senator BYRD surpasses a former colleague of his—Carl Hayden, another legendary figure who served the people of Arizona in the Senate for 42 years. Carl Hayden was known to many as the "Silent Senator." That probably isn't a phrase many would use to describe Senator BYRD. But what they both share is an undying love of this great country of ours and of the U.S. Congress. So I would like to join my colleagues, my fellow Americans, the people of West Virginia, and the Byrd family in celebrating this historic occasion. Senator BYRD, congratulations.

GUANTANAMO

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, this morning, the Attorney General will appear before the Senate Judiciary Committee for an oversight hearing. Among other matters, he will be asked questions about the Administration's recent decision to voluntarily bring terrorist detainees from Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, into the United States, including for purposes of civilian trial.

I, myself, have questions for the Attorney General.

The administration justifies sending Kahlid Sheik Mohammed and his fellow 9/11 plotters to civilian court, while prosecuting other foreign terrorists in military commissions because, it says, the former targeted civilians on American soil, while the latter attacked military targets overseas, like the warship USS Cole. I find this a truly troubling distinction.

First, is that rationale not internally inconsistent and, frankly, disingenuous? Everyone knows the Pentagon is a military target. Indeed, it is our Nation's foremost military command and control installation. What does it say to the military families of those service men and women who were killed that day to ignore that Kahlid Sheik Mohammed attacked a military target on 9/11?

Second, under this rationale, is the administration not telling terrorists that if they target defenseless U.S. civilians on our own soil they will get the rights and privileges of American citizens, whereas if they attack a military target, like the USS Cole, which can defend itself, they will not get these rights and privileges? Does that approach not reward terrorists with benefits—like potentially providing them access to sensitive information, and providing them a platform for propagandizing—for attacking civilians here in the U.S., rather than military targets abroad?

In short, I think the administration has made an ill-advised decision by bringing foreign terrorists from Guantanamo Bay into the United States. There are a lot of well-known
